.NET Developer – refine your C# skills and unleash your creative muse

Are you a skilled .NET developer with proven software development experience? As our new software developer you will join a small, dedicated development team aiming to drive the development of our renowned resource planning solution People Planner. You will also have frequent contact with your colleagues all over the world.

help develop tomorrow's resource planning

You will join a core team of expert developers responsible for driving the development of our resource planning solution People Planner. Using .NET and C# as your main weapons, you collaborate closely with your teammates as well as a host of other developers and internal stakeholders in Denmark, the U.S. and the Philippines. The ultimate goal of your team is to make our advanced resource planning solution even smarter to create optimal value for our project-focused clients.

Due to the recent acquisition between Deltek and Maconomy we expect significant growth opportunities in the near future. Hence, we will count on you to use your creativity and take significant ownership of the continuous development of People Planner together with your teammates. Furthermore, the position enables you to work with some of the finest software developers in Denmark from an attractive location in Østerbro in Copenhagen.

creative, visionary and customer-focused

You have a master's degree in Computer Science, Software Engineering or similar, and you have proven experience as a .NET developer. Ideally, you are highly skilled in C#, ASP.NET and Windows Client Development. And if you have worked with business software development in the past, we certainly will not hold it against you.

As a key member of the People Planner development team you are creative and visionary, using your business savvy to guide the product in the right direction. You always have the end user in mind when you and your colleagues work on the product, and your keen perception enables you to gain deep insight into our solution architecture. Finally, you thrive in a role that gives you significant responsibility.
