

SAP SRM Consultant

Denmark

Job reference:DK02469

Do you want to develop and implement SAP solutions within purchasing and materials management? Then you could be our next SAP SRM (Supplier Relationship Management) Consultant for the CF-IDP-Purchasing Solutions department. We belong to Danfoss IT and develop and implement SAP solutions within purchasing and materials management to all of Danfoss' business units. This is a unique chance to enter a position with a global outlook where you will have an international, wide contact surface and the opportunity to travel in relation to certain projects.

Solutions within purchasing and materials management

Together with your 8 colleagues you advise on, develop and drive the implementation of IT solutions supporting our business processes within purchasing and materials management. As you will work closely with our business units, you focus on customer satisfaction and provide a highly professional service in relation to e.g. trouble-shooting or change requests. More specifically, you will:

- provide IT solutions within purchasing and materials management
- ensure optimal utilisation of IT within purchasing and materials management
- participate in projects and continuous business improvements
- provide user support to the global support organisation

The job holds the potential to further develop your skills within the palette of SRM, e.g. within Supplier Network Collaboration or SAP Contract Management.

Business-minded MSc with technical flair and solid overview

Your entrance to this job could be due to your background as Business Consultant or Process Development Consultant or experience from employment within procurement or planning. More importantly, you are keen on topping your degree in Business Economics or IT with experience of IT solutions. For this reason you could be newly qualified as we will make sure that the challenges meet your professional level.

As a person you have technical flair and thrive in the field between IT and the business. With your solid overview you can confidently navigate between various, simultaneous tasks and deliver on time. You view IT-solutions from the business' perspective, and you have the cooperation skills and the ability to listen and communicate diversely across business units.
